

Hello,

I am writing this letter to ask you to please maintain the current FCC regulations that prevent the major telecom carriers from blocking or slowing down access to web content. I am the owner of an educational, and I would not have been able to develop this website if telecom carriers instituted regulations to favor certain websites over others. If the FCC enables carriers to charge for more certain types of web traffic or requires website owners to pay more money for faster connection speeds for users, then I have serious concerns about being able to continue to operate my website.

Please do not cancel the current FCC regulations regarding net neutrality. My future as a small business owner depends on these regulations remaining in place.

Regards,
Ian Meginnis
